Abstract

Nursing Staff - Uniform Allowance - Drawal of - Orders passed

-v-v-v uniform allowance of Rs.75/- per annum admissible in the permanent post and the balance of Rs.25/- due in the higher officiating post in arrears at the end of the year. The Accountant General, Madras states that according to the G.Os referred to above this procedure is not accrect and that as long as the officers are officiating in higher posts, they should be paid the uniform allowance of Rs.100/- only in arrears, at the end of each year. According to the interrpretation of the Accountant General, when a permanent nurse, who has received the uniform allowance in advance at the beginning of a year is promoted to a higher rank, she will receive the next uniform allowance after a period of two only (viz after a lapse of one year for which he has received advance pay ment and after a lapse of one further year of officiating service in the higher ranks. This will result in hardship to the nursing staff. It is requested that the Government will issue orders to the effect that when permanent members of the nursing staff are promoted to officiate in higher ranks they may continue to draw in advance the uniform allowance admissible to the permanent post and that the difference admissible for officiating in the higher ranks may be drawn in arrears.
